Sydney, 19 December 2014 – Leading superannuation administration specialist, Link Group, today confirmed it has formally signed agreements with a number of superannuation funds to provide member administration services to those funds.

Under the new arrangements, Link Group has taken over the management of Superpartners, effective today.

John McMurtrie, Managing Director of Link Group, today acknowledged the role of the Superpartners Board and management, and thanked them for their contribution to the business.

“Today marks an important step forward for the Australian superannuation administration industry with Link Group now providing administration services to over 9 million individual members, through the addition of five of Australia’s largest superannuation funds. We look forward to welcoming the funds and their members as clients,” Mr McMurtrie said.
